A Rare Opportunity: Training. We specially welcome men and women from outside the ranks of teachers to take the training and start more 'OPEN' groups in villages and small towns. You must certainly be interested. Write to the Hon. State Secretary Bharat Scouts, & Guides, Madras-5, for details.

The Central Government under the Second Five Year Plan have come forward to contribute towards development of Scouting and Guiding in various States by granting a substantial amount for the free Training of men and women who wish to take to this work voluntarily.

We have now on our rolls nearly 3,000 men and women serving the Movement without any remuneration and on a purely voluntary basis running the many Scout and Guide groups in the various parts of the State. We welcome more and more of them to come in by taking advantage of this free offer for Renewal of Registration of Groups: It is unfortunate that inspite of repeated instructions the renewal forms sent by groups are either inadequate or incomplete. The date within which the forms should be sent does not seem to weigh upon the minds of Scouters, Guiders, and the Associations in the Districts concerned. Good

Scouting and business habits ought to be synonymous and if there is anything wanting in this, it is earnestly hoped that it will soon be made up by those concerned.

Efficiency : One is happy to note that the hopes entertained last year for a larger number of First Class and Bharat Scouts have to some extent been realised and we see a sprinkling of them in the districts of Chingleput, Coimbatore, South Madras, Central Madras, West Madras, East Madras, Madurai and Salem. Keep it up Scouters and let us see more of them in the next year's returns.

Make a Good Start : Most of the Scouters and Guiders must be planning the reorganisation of Groups after the schools reopen early in June next. Do not forget to start with small numbers and never forget that the Patrol System is the only method by which SCOUT and GUIDE groups are to be run. Train up your boy and girl leaders and let them run the groups with you behind them helping actively with suggestions and ideas.

Effective Administration : With a view to make our Commissioners and Associations in the Districts to administer and function effectively certain proposals for the reorganisation of districts and appointments of Commissioners are being considered by a Sub-Committee specially appointed for the purpose. If you have any ideas on this subject please pass them on immediately to our Honorary State Secretary.

Publications : We are in sore need of publications in Tamil on Scouting and Guiding. We extend a hearty invitation to all the experienced Scouters and Guiders in the State to send in their manuscripts in simple Tamil and with as many illustrations as possible. Small pamphlets are required on various Scout and Guide tests.

Good News : Scouters and Guiders who have been camping at our Stanley Park Camping Centre at Coonoor in the Nilgiris.

have come back and given us the news that the Camping Centre has become a paradise, with fine and well laid out pathways and level lawns, with tastefully painted comfortable wooden huts, with plenty of water supply, with a good supply of fluffy blankets and druggets for keeping the plains people warm and comfortable and with many other facilities for Camping. All these improvements are due to Mrs. R. E. MacLaine-Clarke our able President of the Stanley Park Committee who has many more plans to make this Camping Centre the best for Scouts and Guides. Surely you must be itching to Camp at the Stanley Park and enjoy the thrill. Do it now.

The Himalaya Scout Wood Badge Course (Practical)

23rd April to 4th May, 1959 - Stanley Park, Coonoor

The camp was started on the evening of 23rd April, 1959 with 23 campers drawn from the States of Madras, Bombay, Mysore and Andhra Pradesh and 5 Officers.

The inaugural function was held on the 24th morning. The State Chief Commissioner and the President of the Association could not attend the function due to certain unavoidable reasons.

In the absence of Sri C. Subramaniam, the President of the Association, Sri A. Y. S. Parisutha Nadar, M.L.A., District Scout Commissioner of Tanjore inaugurated the camp. Mrs. R. E. MacLaine-Clarke, President of the Stanley Park Committee and the District Guide Commissioner, Nilgiris presided over the function. Sri C. Lingam, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Nilgiris District Bharat Scouts and Guides, in a short talk, traced the history of the Stanley Park.

At the outset, Sri M. Rajagopalan welcomed the President of the function and the visitors and read out the messages received from the State Chief Commissioner, the Honorary State Treasurer, the Honorary State Secretary and the State Commissioner (Guides), wishing the campers a good and useful time and the function a success. Sri Parisutha Nadar in his speech paid a tribute to the good work that is being done at the Stanley Park and exhorted the campers to carry the torch of good Scouting into the villages.

Mrs. MacLaine-Clarke who presided over the function thanked the Government of Madras for the great encouragement they are giving to Scouting and Guiding in the State and especially to the development of Stanley Park and the Tea Board for having given a grant of Rs. 3500/- towards the improvement of the Park. As the President of the Stanley Park Committee, she said she proposed to develop the Park in such a way as to make it useful to all boys and girls irrespective of their being Scouts or not, right through the year and appealed to the Public and the Government for their generous support. She congratulated those who have come up for training in the Wood Badge Course and wished them all joy and happiness of good Scouting and glorious camping.

Sri R. Messiah Doss thanked all those present and especially Mrs. MacLaine-Clarke for the great interest she evinces in Scouting and Guiding in general and the Stanley Park in particular and the fine way in which she has beautified the Park and made it more useful to the boys and girls.

A Brief report of the Village Scout Organisers' Training Course, National Training Centre, Pachmarhi 31-1-1959 to 15-2-1959

By Sri A. D. M. Prakasam, A.D.C.C. (Scouts),

Tiruchirapalli.

We are all aware that the National Headquarters, New Delhi are forging plans for developing Scouting and Guiding under the Second Five Year Plan. In accordance with their plans a new scheme for developing Scouting in Villages was inaugurated with a Special All India Training Course for the Village Scout Organisers at the National Training Centre, Pachmarhi from 31-1-1959 to 15-2-1959. The Course was attended by 33 State Organising Commissioners and Assistant Deputy Camp Chiefs, representing 13 States of India. Six representatives, all A.D.C.Cs. from Madras State with varied experiences in the field of Scouting in general and Village Scouting in particular, arrived at the sylvan surroundings of the National Training Centre sufficiently earlier to attend the Training Course. Sri J. I. Muthiah, our Camp Chief (Scouts) India with his characteristic hilarity and the backwoodsman's good cheer extended a warm welcome to all the campers. We were all happy to tread the hallow ground of the Camp site that has been developed and improved from a scratch, thanks to the indefatigable zeal and untiring efforts of the Camp Chief, Sri J. I. Muthiah, who was in charge of the Training Course ably assisted by Sri D. L. Bhagwat, S. O. C. (S) Bombay, Sri Sushil Kumar, Camp Secretary, and Shri Misra, Quartermaster.

The Course commenced on 31st January 1959 at 11-30 a.m. with the flag hoisting, Sri J. I. Muthiah then welcomed the campers in a very informal manner, divided the campers into five Patrols, the Copper Smith, The Wood Peckers, the Panthers, the Parrots and the Eagles—each patrol consisting of members of different States. After the preliminary talk, the campers adjourned for lunch.

When we met again for the afternoon session at 2-30 P.M. Shri Madan Mohan, Chief Commissioner (Scouts) inaugurated the Training Course and said that he was very glad to meet D.C. Cs. and A.D.C. Cs. of different States at the Village Scout Organisers Course—the first of its kind under the aegis of the Bharat Scouts and Guides. As the S. O. Cs. and Asst.

Deputy Camp Chiefs were the mainstay of the Movement, they must consider every now and then the following points—whether they are satisfied that the Movement is progressing on proper lines, whether the techniques of training they adopt, are on right lines, whether Scouting, be it in the Urban areas or in the rural areas has become window-dressing or otherwise, whether Scouting, it made into a mass movement, will not be leading us to chaos and confusion. After dealing with the above points with apt illustrations drawn from his ripe experience, he went on to explain the need for organising Scouting in rural areas—to raise and improve the standard of living of those residing in the villages. He further said that efforts must be made to raise a bond of able and enthusiastic workers from amongst the villagers themselves, who inspired by the ideals of service the spirit of brotherhood would work as inspirers, organisers, and instructors in their respective villages. He concluded his inaugural address by exhorting the trainees to give their time and thought to the new scheme of village Scouting to be evolved, after careful deliberations and discussions, arrive at wise and useful conclusions so that the scheme that is to be drawn will be quite genuine and inspiring.

The various subjects and activities with detailed syllabus for the Village Scout Organisers Course were taken up and dealt with according to schedule. On Sunday 1-2-1959 the aims and methods of Scout Training with reference to Village Scouting were explained at length by Sri J. I. Muthiah and a general discussion followed in which all the trainees, Shri D. P. Joshi, and Shri D. S. Bhagwat. S. O. C. Bombay took part. At the end of this session a Committee consisting of Sri A. D. M. Prakasam (Madras State) Shri Thirumalachari (Mysore State) Shri Dawan (Punjab State) and Shri Pawlose (Kerala State) was constituted to formulate the aims and methods of Scout Training in the light of the discussions.

Now I would like to mention some of the special features of the Training Course. Though this course was conducted on lines similar to that of a Wood Badge Camp with a daily routine and definite programme, yet it must be said that it was training course - cum - conference as termed by Shri Madan Mohan, the Chief Commissioner (Scouts) with opportunities for full and free discussions in all the sessions.

Another special feature worth mentioning, is the ample time given to handicrafts. like puppet making, Flannel graph picture making, lanyard making, belt making etc. Sri Ariel, the Hobby instructor attached to the Lliterack House, Lucknow, remained with the campers for a number of days and he daily instructed the campers one hour on the importance of Puppet shows, flannel graphs shows which are indispensable for cultural programmes in villages.

The third special feature of the course was, besides instructive talks on Rope Craft, Camp Craft, Wood Craft by Sardar Hardy Singh the sage of Tara Devi and the practical talks on First Aid by Shri D. P. Joshi, our popular National Organising Commissioner, we had a number of projects assigned to us for demonstration by the two veteran Scouters as knots in use in different States-Backwoodsman cooking without utensils in the villages in different States, forecasting rain or weather condition by certain local signs in different States and projects of the fire fighting in villages. These projects were quite instructive and interesting. We had outdoor meetings for Cubs and Scouts.

Last but not least of the special feature of the course was the "Camp Fires" that were held every alternate night. The Camp Fires were taken full advantage of by the members and everyone came forward to give full expression to his talents in music, singing mimicry, histrionics, dancing, Scout yarns, Scout yells, etc. It is no exaggeration when I say that all the trainees completely forgot their positions in life and co-operated with one another in all the Camp activities, thus contributing in a large measure to the joy and success of the Camp. One cannot but remark about the admirable spirit of comradeship and happy family spirit that pervaded the Camp throughout although the trainees have been drawn from different parts of our sub-continent-India.

14th February 1959 was the final day of the Training Course. After the final talk by the Camp Chief, the flag was lowered. The bus to Pippariya Railway Station was ready to start. Greetings such as "Good Luck" "Good Village Scouting" "Good Health" were ringing in our ears - The bus started. The Camp Chief Sri J. I. Muthiah was standing at some distance bade farewell to the campers with his characteristic smile and wave of his hand. We then sang "He is a Jolly Good Fello" till the Camp Chief was out of sight. Only when the bus left the camp premises, we all realised that our wonderful holiday on the Queen of Satpuras-National Training Centre was really over.

Notes & Observation

BY D. P. JOSHI

National Organising Commissioner, Bharat Scouts & Guides, India

Census : I give below an extract from a valuable English book. The passage is self-explanatory.

' As annual Census is taken of the whole Movement on 31st March. This is regarded by many Scouters as a nuisance but is a most valuable asset in that it enables a complete record to be kept of the Movement, which is used in dealing with Government Departments for Grants, etc.

Some Scouters misguidedly overstate their numbers or count moribund members. This may be due to various causes but an honest statement is essential. It helps nobody to have "paper figures" only.

The greatest care and expedition is required by all. It is disgraceful that many census forms reach NHQ. many months after the closing dates. Although action lies with the Secretaries, Commissioners can do much to ensure that Scouters get their returns in quickly.

It should be noted that the Census is also the re-registration of a group and therefore Groups not completing the form technically cease to exist. Badges and warrants cannot be issued for it - and it should be made to feel its position. Perhaps this might form a suitable job for a member of the Group Committee if the Scouter is not himself of a business turn of mind.

It will be seen that the Census enables all levels to have a complete check of their position from year to year. Every possible piece of information should be squeezed out of the figures.'

Let us meditate over the passage and see what we can do. In the census figures, we must be able to give correct figures about Bharat Scouts/Guides, First Class Scouts/Guides, Two Star Cubs, Commissioners Trained/untrained. Are we able to supply these figures? Please note that we are required to pay at the rate of one anna per member to the International Bureau. If our number is 6,90,000. then we are required to pay Rs. 37,500. So the States, District, Local Associations are requested to think about this problem when they send the figures. The number of six lakhs is not too big for this country, but they must be active scouts.

The Rally of Scouts and Guides who have won the Bharat Scout/ Guide Badges :

It has been decided to hold the rally sometime in the last week of January 1960 and I am giving this information with the hope that States would intimate to their groups and companies immediately so that the Scouts and Guides would take full advantage of the summer vacation and work for this badge.

OPERATION "BE PREPARED"

Boy Scouts Lend Valuable Public Services during the Recent Revolution in Cuba

When President Fulgencio Batists and his Cuban government were forced into exile on New Years Eve of 1958, Cuba was left in an extremely unstable condition while Fidel Castro's revolutionary army gradually assumed control. During this period, the Cuban Boy Scouts did a magnificent job of public service.

Preparation

Several months earlier and on account of the severe political conditions which were present in Cuba, members of the Executive Committee of the Scouts de Cuba, organised Operation "Be Prepared" - a plan for rapid national mobilization of Scouts with specific instructions for the rendering of public services in case of emergency.

A booklet was mimeographed describing mobilization arrangements, special equipment necessary, preliminary training recommended and specific situations where Scouts might help and it was distributed to all Commissioners and Scouters.

It was clearly specified that the Scouts were to do a strictly civilian job, avoiding any situation where their action might be misconstrued as having political ends. This principle was maintained in all cases and the Movement was recognized in its rightful place as a strictly non-political organization.

All District Commissioners were briefed on the plan and several local rehearsals took place in preparation. Specific posts and tasks were assigned to Scout Troops and Rover Clans all over the country.

An Opportunity for Service

In the morning of January 1st 1959 broadcasts informed the public that the leaders of the deposed regime had fled, including Batista. The moments that followed were of extreme peril. Jubilant crowds roamed the streets while riots began all over the cities. Unscrupulous crowds invaded and sacked the homes of certain notorious members of the fleeing government.

The Executive Committee of the Scouts gave the signal for the start of operation "Be prepared" at noon on January 1st and immediately Scouts all over Cuba reported to their pre-assigned posts to carry out their duties. At all times the Scouts acted with the permission and active approval of the public authorities in control of the situation.

BRAVE AND BOASTFUL
MUNNU CHUNNU

Go away if you are scared, Chunnu. I'll stay and watch the show.

It's O.K. for kids like you, not for brave ones like me!

The snake charmer's show was fun!

Why, I have performed such shows myself!

So many times I've been to the jungle and played my flute...

and snakes have come running to me enraptured....

When I weave them into a garland for myself, people bow their heads in respect!

Never thought you were so brave.

One day I'll show you how I catch snakes.
It's getting dark. I must go.

Snake!
Help! Help!

Oh, I am so tired! If only I had my flute.
I would have caught that snake.

What? Tired out so easily? And that was no snake, silly.
That was my belt.

Chunnu, it requires strength to run fast and far. You should

cooked in DALDA.

IT'S TRUE! YOU

DALDA IS SO

Hospitals and First Aid Stations

Immediately patrols of Scouts were sent to all the Hospitals, First Aid Stations and Red Cross Offices where they distributed rations, kept order, served as messengers and cleaned the premises.

In many hospitals Scouts carried on with their valuable work while fighting and shooting were still going on around them and in the streets between the revolutionary army and groups of soldiers of the ousted regime.

In Havana, a medical station was set up by Scouts next to the headquarters of the Scout Association with the help of the Red Cross. This station was operated by certified Doctors as well as stretcher-carriers, nurses and auxiliary personnel. The station handled a large number of wounded, mainly members of the revolutionary army which entered the city, but also several cases of persons wounded in the street incidents were attended to.

The services performed by Scouts in these hospitals were doubly important since in most cases the normal personnel operating them were absent because of the interruption of all public transport services and the disorganized circumstances which prevented them from reporting to work.

Communications

All instructions issued by Scout Headquarters regarding the conduct of operation "Be prepared" were broadcast through the main radio and television stations which from the earliest moments were in the hands of the revolutionary army. The latter co-operated in all respects with the Scouts and the facilities of the national Radio network were placed at the disposal of the Scouts for issuing bulletins and instructions. A total of twelve bulletins were issued. As a result, Scouts all over the country acted as a unified and co-ordinated organization.

Traffic Control

In the absence of the police or any other official agency, traffic lights were left unmaned and Scouts took over the job of handling and directing traffic all over Havana as well as in the other principal cities. It must be remembered that Havana is a city of about one million inhabitants.

The Scouts did a magnificent job of this project, closing down certain streets, re-directing traffic, manning the manual traffic lights and orienting drivers. This service was continued for the five consecutive days by Scouts alone, until they were substituted by personnel appointed by the new Government.

Other Services

With several Scouters who had experience in electrical repairs, important services were made repairing interruptions of power systems in hospitals. Patrols of Scouts were sent to all Five Department Stations. Transportation services consisting of Scouters who voluntarily offered their automobiles were also formed and they carried food and provisions to isolated families during the first days of the revolution when no means of transportation were available anywhere, carried wounded civilians to First Aid Stations, delivered special medicines to sick persons, and served as Messengers for vital services.

Scouts also served as lift operators in hotels and offices, collected food and clothing in co-operation with several other devastated in the recent fighting and cleared the streets of broken glass and debris.

When the revolutionary army entered Havana on January 8th, crowds of thousands lined the streets to cheer the entrance of the 10 mile long armored caravan, and never were the Scouts services valued more highly, when they held back the people and kept open the way for the advancing trucks and tanks.

Public Reaction

At all times the public followed instructions issued by Scouts and helped them to carry out their jobs in every possible way. It was common to see a 14 year old Scout in complete control of traffic at the inter-section of two six-lane boulevards in downtown Havana. The authorities of the revolutionary government and the Cuban people as a whole have fully recognized and congratulated the Scouts for their behaviour and initiative in these difficult moments, and Commander Aldo Vera, new Chief of the National Police, addressed a personal letter to the President of the Scouts de Cuba expressing his "sincere and heartfelt congratulations for the behaviour and discipline of the Cuban Boy Scouts in the past few days"
